Trip Around to Koolau Bay-Rec cord Time in Lively Sea Abbie M-Edith L

The last week in yachting circle has not been a purticularly lively one as the near approach of Christmas had given most people something else to figure on. Most of the boats were out Sunday. The 18th, with Jolly pursies aboard.

THE ALICE.

Captain Johnson had the Alice on and was not taking any chances of shoul water this trip and took Judge Wifeox along for pilot. What the judge does not know about sailing in these waters, there is no use for anyone eles to try and find out, as he is the ac knowledged "cracker-jack" of Hawaitan yachtsmen. He hadled the Alice easily and the trip was a satisfactor; one in every respect

Henry Glies and his brother Arthur ith Messrs. Allen and McLain had the Edith L. out for a spin and she showed he advantage of the cleaning and over hauling she had received by out-foot ing everything of her size in sight With a good breeze and a light sea the Edith L. shows that she stands a good chance to lead the procession of sec ond-class yachts.

ABBLE M.

Marshal's Clerk Dow has been keep ing the course hot, between the har-bor and Diamond Head of late. With Dow Jr. for even he is prepared for any and all emergencies. The 17th he took Charles Phillips out for a turn and Sunday morning he had Messrs. McCaffrey, Clayton and Bacon of the U. S. A. out for a sail. This was the first experience of these "three soldier men in blue" and two of them became quite "confidential with Neptune," before they got back to the harbor. Dow is one of the best fellows in the world to go sailing with and if his popularity increases much mere he will have to open a passenger list for advance en-

GLADYS.

The Gladys was the only one of the home yachts to take a cruise of any length. Saturday Captain T. W. Hobon with Messrs. Banning and Pearson and with Kalepe for pilot, cleared at 11 a. m. for Heela, on the opposite side of the Island. This trip is justly considered to be the roughest one in Oahu wa-

Strong trades had been blowing for several days and the seas off Makapuu Koko Head and Mokapu were tremendons. From Honolulu to Makapuu was a dead beat to windward and with a strong wind and a single reef the Giadys was driven over the big rollers in record-breaking time, making the run from Honolulu to Koko Head in two hours scant. Every wave carried a white cap and the spray flew merrily Off Makapuu a large ship was sighted and hoping that it might be the Alden Besse, on which friends were expected, they stood out to sea for about five miles to meet her, but it proved to be the American ship St. George. Being then so far out, the Gladys was able to make the run to Bird Island with a beam wind and fairly flew over the course. Shortly after passing between Bird Island and Mokupa Point, darkness came down and as it is out of the question to take a boat through the tiera channel, except in a good light hey were obliged to drop anchor off Mushroom rock, some two miles from Heia. Captain Hobron and the pilot went ashore in the small boat to 'phone the friends at home, while the others made dinner ready. On the captain's return all hands fell to with a will and stowed away a dinner that would have bankrupted a restaurant. The anchorage, while not a quiet one, is far superfor to Waianae, and a good night's rest the Chapel was irregular in every way on account, as alloged, of being on grounds not owned by the Anglican Church in Hawaii, through its trustees.

In a short time now, the Rev. Mr. Usborne will make to the people here a complete statement of his relations with the Hishop, of Honolaids and of the trip to the United States. By:. Mr. Usborne and yesterday that the American House of Hishops at Westington had rested billing most cordially. He was given a chair in the Congress and had access to all the committees of the gatherine. In one way and another he placed before the rating dignitaries the story of the church in these behavis and after making known his desires received every encouragement. How. It is not in the very highest require (officially) that Aifred Honolai his belief by the Rev. Mr. Usborne of subscript for rating the church in Hawaii. The Pey, Mr. Laborne asserts that no one should pay the slightest attention to Aifred Honolaid in an official way. The Rector says the Bishop simply assumes power that he does not at all possess. Rev. Mr. Usborne continues that Alfred Honolaid, in the exercise of rate, is exactly like a man who, as an outsider, would walk up to a military company and begin insuffic orders and expect obscience. The Hashop, says fiew, Mr. Usborne has been accepted as supreme here for so many scars that he has in a way established bimed, but that when the situation and the facts are known, as they are soon to be presented, the likebop will be utterly disregarded.

It was only briefly that Rev. Mr. Usborne would speak of the new material between the First and Second Congregations of St. Andrew's Cathedral. He said that the great mistake made was in having a contention over the property. He points out that in a religious affair property should be the last thing to be thought of by the disputants or others in the tract and cather in Yachtsmen should bear in mind to anchor several hundred feet above and sutside the wharf at Hecia, where there a good bottom. Close in, the mud so deep and so soft, that if the weather is at all heavy, a boat is sure to drag. About 10 o'clock sails were holsted, anchors gotten in and every-thing made snug for the return trip. The run down Koolau bay is an ideal one.
